president of the university

Dr. Walter Hugh Johns

OFFICE of the PRESIDENT

EDMONTON,
Alberta, Canada

the president's message

The rate of accumulation of new knowledge is greater today than it has ever been in history and the responsibility of all those at university to assimilate the known and to add fresh insights and new knowledge as the storehouse of civilization grows accordingly.

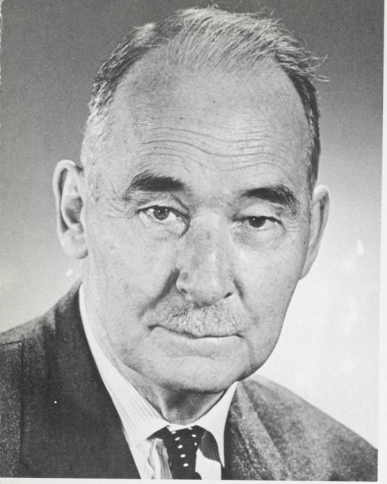

One factor that still remains a stubborn constant is time itself, since it cannot be expanded for our needs. We can, however, allow more time for formal education, and I hope more of the graduating students each year will decide to extend their years of study in order to fit themselves better for their life work.

To the undergraduates I would emphasize the vital importance of using their brief span of years at university to the utmost. The last words of Cecil Rhodes — "So little done — so much to do" have a greater significance now than ever before.

To all the students I wish joy and satisfaction in learning and a full and happy life of service in the years ahead.

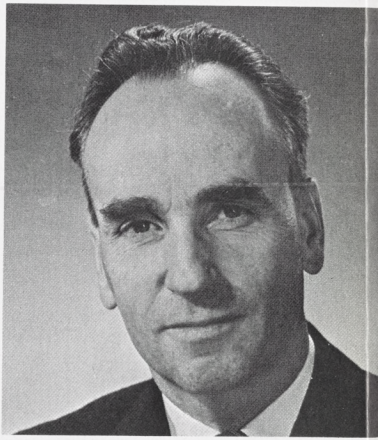

Walter H. Johns,
President.

My purpose is to touch upon some of the important developments in student activities while, at the same time, thinking of these developments in terms of what may occur in the future.

1. Following the planning of the past three years the new Students' Union Building comes closer to becoming a reality each day. The key decisions by the Students' Union Planning Commission, the Students' Council, the Board of Governors and of the Provincial Government have paved the way which will enable actual construction to begin within 1965. The basic problem which students face on this campus is the lack of physical facilities and the new Students' Union Building will alleviate this problem for some years to come.

2. Accompanying these expanded facilities will be a new era in student government. Decision making will become even more important and complex than it is at the present time. The first step is this transition has already occurred with the creation of the position of "General Manager and Adviser to the Students' Union". Mr. Marvin Swenson's presence in this position is the first of a number of appointments to be made so as to adequately operate our expanded facilities.

Here is where a word of caution is needed. To date, the students of this union have retained policy making power over their own affairs. This must not change. Professional administrators are necessary because of the sheer complexity and size of a student operation of such proportions. However, all students must guard this control of their own affairs and ensure that the professional remains in the position of an adviser and not as a decision maker. To date this has been done and no problems appear on the horizon. On the other hand, we must never lose sight of the importance of the ability to make our own decisions and as a result the ability to make our own mistakes. This is the life blood of student government.

3. The current year has been a very active one for the Canadian Union of Students both at the national and the local level. It is true to say that our national student organization suffered a serious set-back with the withdrawal of the French Canadian Universities from Quebec. Yet this act was unavoidable. The problem of recognizing the cultural duality of Canada has troubled our national student organization for a long time and it would seem that the split which has occurred may, in the long run, be a step toward true Canadian unity. Hopefully, the future will bring us all back together, not only at the student level but throughout Canada in general.

In line with the problem set out above, the students of the University of Alberta in Edmonton are certainly attempting to do their share. "Understanding through Communication" is the key to the solution to our bi-cultural problem. French Canada Week is designed to do just that. As I write, plans are progressing much better than anyone could ever hope for and the students can be proud of this positive action that is being taken. This is one of the most worthwhile projects undertaken by students of this university in recent years. It should also be pointed out that the local committee of the Canadian Union of Students is doing many other things, and I point to the Students' Union Charter Flight and the interest shown in international affairs regarding South Africa's Apartheid policy as cases in point.

Each year students initiate new activities and projects and this year has been no exception. The first Canadian Intercollegiate Rodeo is positive proof of how a mammoth task can be successfully handled by a group of university students.

Our continued success in intercollegiate athletics, particularly football and hockey together with the resurgence in basketball, is something to be proud of.

The future looks extremely promising for the continued success of students activities at this university. This is even more important because of the fact our academic standards have been maintained at a relatively high level. This would indicate that the entire programme and environment of this university is a highly desirable one.

Before I conclude I should like to express my sincere thanks for the assistance which I and other students have had over the past year. The president of the University of Alberta, Dr. Walter H. Johns, has to be at the top of the list. No other university president in this country finds the time and energy to be with his students the way Dr. Johns does. We are sincerely grateful for his continued interest in us and the maintenance of what I have come to call his "open door policy". No matter how crowded his schedule ever becomes his door is always open to a student who has a problem.

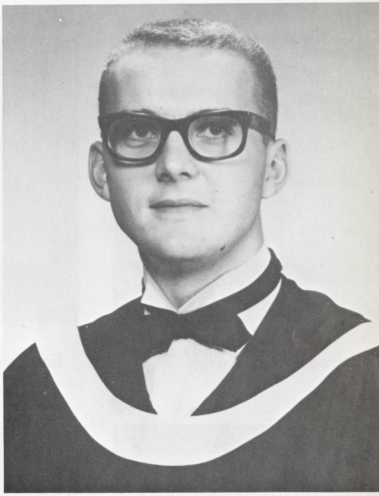

In addition, tribute should be paid to the time and efforts of Dean Sparling, Major Hooper and Professor A. A. Ryan, along with a host of others. For the past may I say thank you and for the future may I wish each and every one of you all the best.

The spirit of a university lies not in the buildings, but in the minds of the individuals. Yet a faintly intellectual atmosphere lingers in this lecture hall as it anticipates an influx of students.

Although conscious of her femininity, this Co-ed directs attention to her assignment.

law

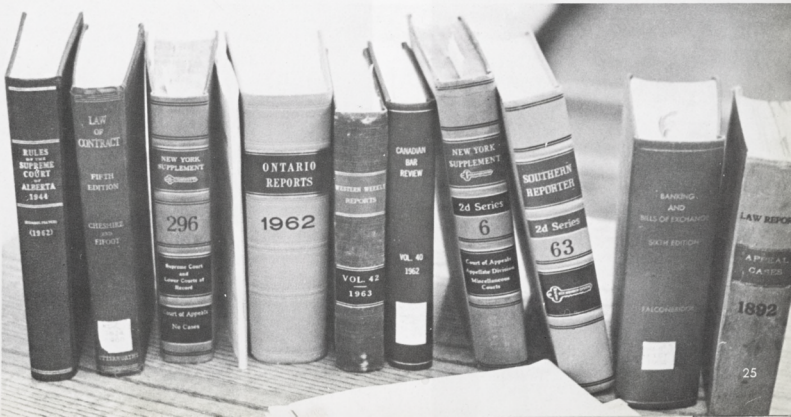

The profession of law requires hard work and a serious outlook.

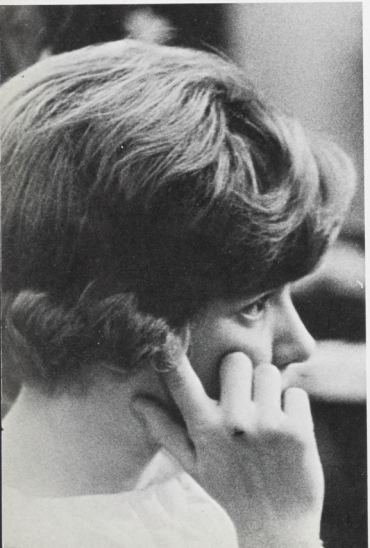

Clad in an academic robe, Peter reads from a well-thumbed volume.

The law student must assimilate a large quantity of material. In future cases Hugh must refer to these reports, and upon his knowledge rests the interpretation of justice.

The silhouette of the drummer is to the setting as the reverberation of the tympani is to the stillness.

Students with interest and talent in music, art, and drama are given special encouragement by the Department of Fine Arts. Their creative ability is nurtured and given direction.

Building sets can be fun, as is evident from the enthusiasm of Robin and Collette.

Two drama students enact another reality.

music drama

Powerful but controlled, these hands coax melody from a grand piano.

This professor, looking erudite behind his beard, explains the finer points of technique to his class. A new studio, the Gallery, is evidence of the recognition that this campus gives to Fine Arts.

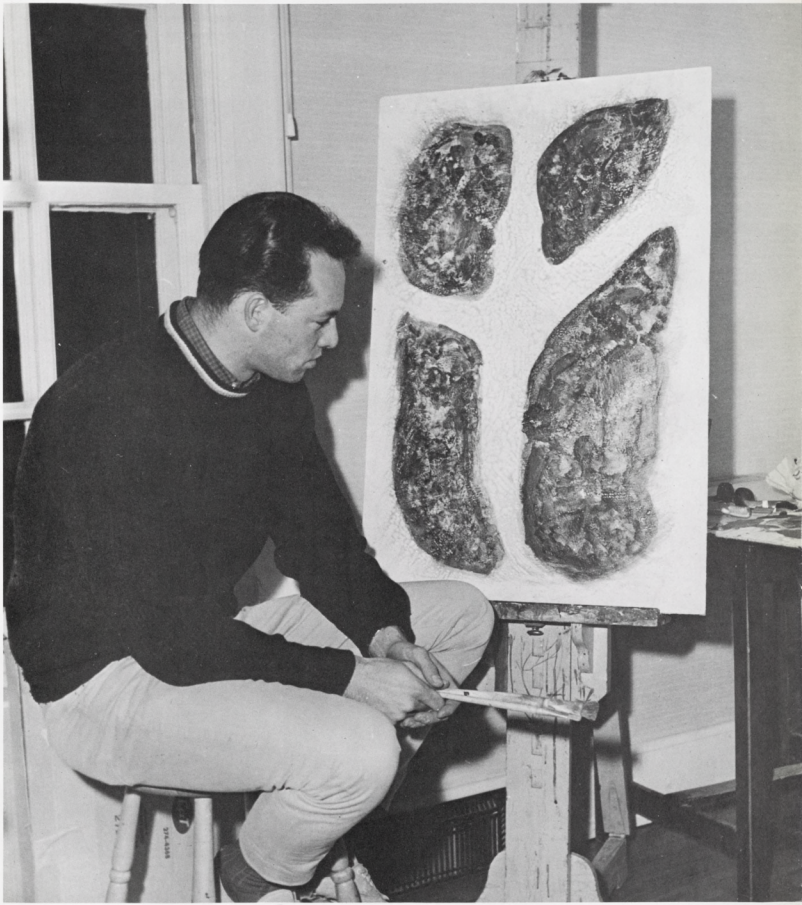

art

A student transposes feeling to canvas and gives tangible expression to an artistic idea.

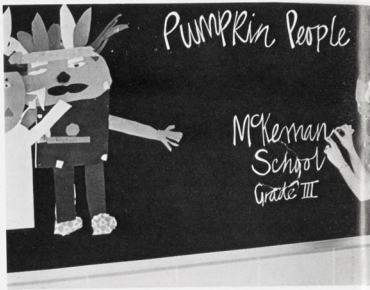

These figures were sculptured by a U. of A art student.

Contemplation

These teachers will mold young minds while they are yet plastic. It is they who will inculcate knowledge into the minds of our children and thus perpetrate our cultural tradition. Student teaching provides laboratory experience where, under supervision, the teacher-to-be acquires a 'feel' for the work.

Despite the short duration of her apprenticeship, the student teacher develops a real attachment to her pupils.

Quite unawed by the machines, a music student finds satisfaction in her listening lab.

An impressionable Grade III class will sense the mystery emanating from a ceremonial mask.

Because a class can never be homogenous in ability, individual help must be given to each child.

education

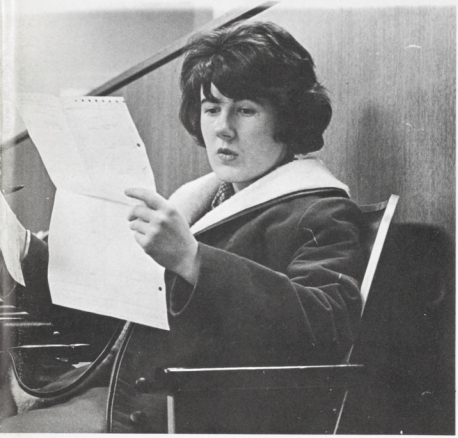

arts

Proper pronunciation of a foreign language depends upon strange, new positions of the articulators. In the language labs the student can hear his mistakes and correct them.

home economics

A conscientious student reviews the notes of her last class.

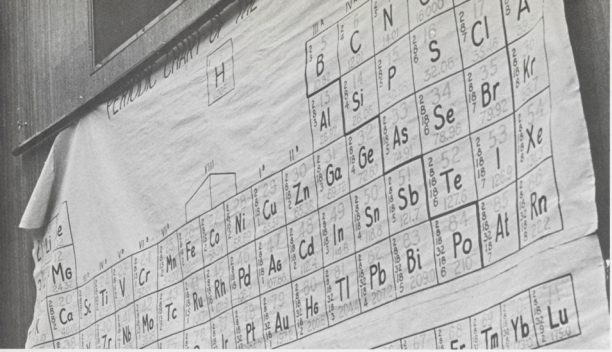

Threading a sewing machine requires a keen eye and steady hand.

Contrary to popular opinion, Home Economics is not synonymous with "Housewife Factory". These co-eds will hold important positions in the world of food and fashion.

The periodic chart of the elements embodies the system implicit in all sciences.

science labs

Diagrams, such as this student is making, are essential to understanding.

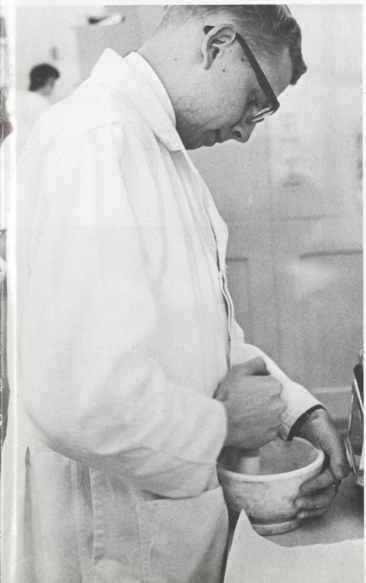

Two students confer in an effort to solve a problem in a biology lab.

pharmacy

Prescription

Medication

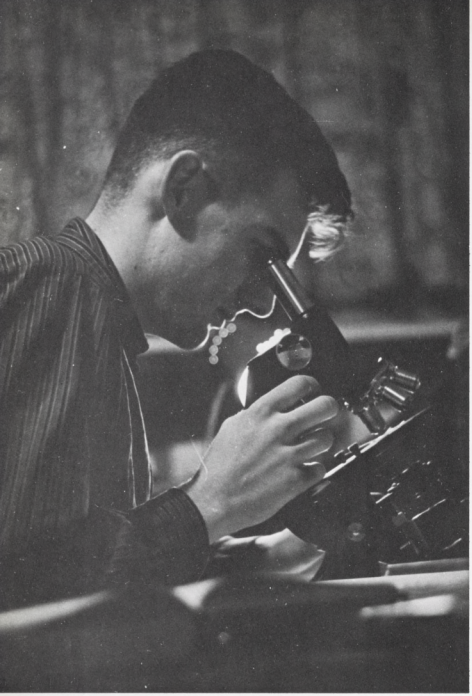

Collaboration

In her dispensing lab, a pharmacy student puts health in bottles.

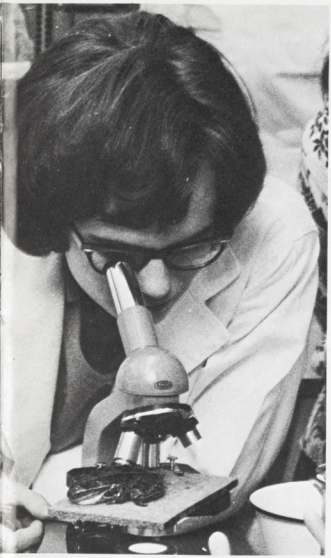

With the aid of his microscope, this young man familiarizes himself with a miniature world.

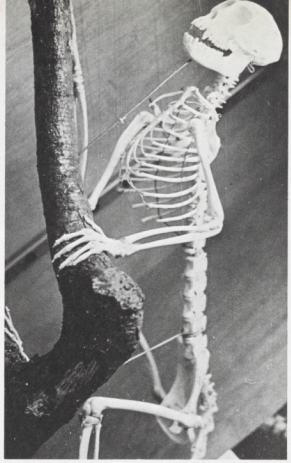

botany

In the introductory biology lab plant structures and processes are studied on a microscopic scale. It is hard to believe that anything so lovely could be of importance to science.

Froggie is unaware of his importance to science. The Co-ed studies his inner workings.

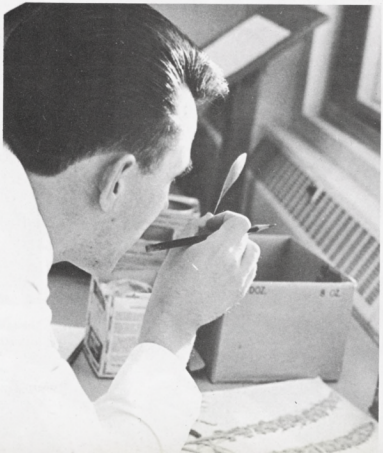

Perhaps this fellow is our Darwinian cousin.

science

The botanist studies a leaf in order that he may classify a plant.

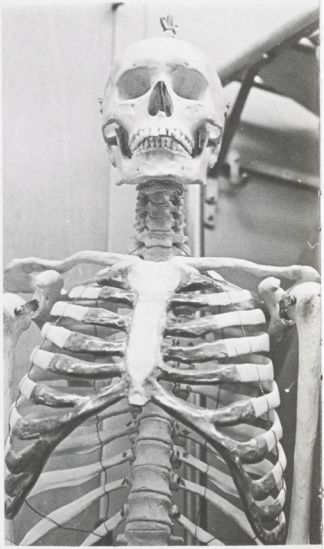

In filling a hypodermic, the nurse must guard against the inclusion of air bubbles.

Student nurses receive training with mannequins in order to facilitate contact with human patients.

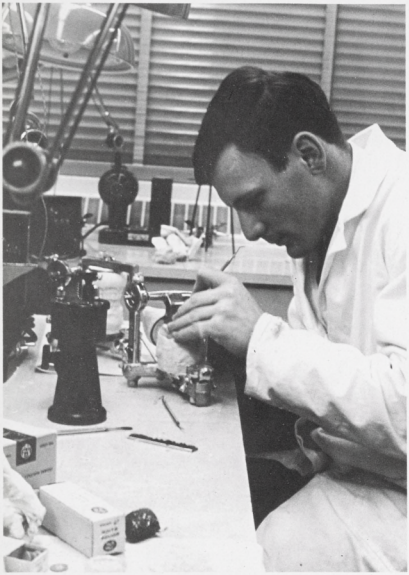

Though somewhat inarticulate, this fellow instructs our students.

Students of several faculties on this campus combat disease and suffering, both directly and indirectly. Because of their intensive training, high standards, and dedicated attitude, we do not hesitate to entrust our health to them.

nursing

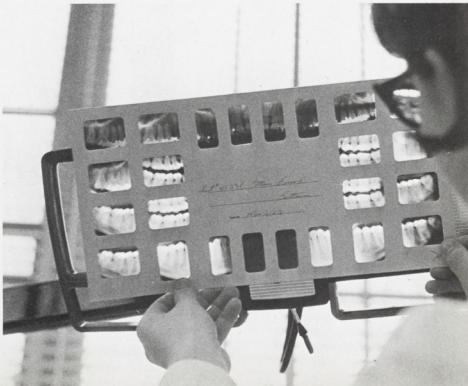

John develops the skill and knowledge he will require as a dentist.

As nature has endowed us with only a limited number of teeth, it is imperative that they receive the best of care. The School of Dental Hygiene emphasizes the preventive aspect, whereas the Faculty of Dentistry encompasses both preventive and pathological treatment.

dentistry

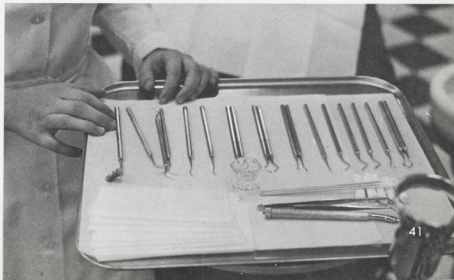

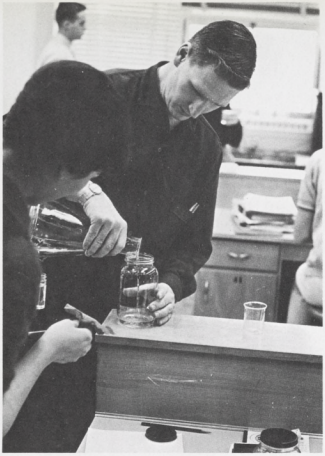

The practical training received in these labs makes "book larnin" more concrete and provides valuable pre-professional training.

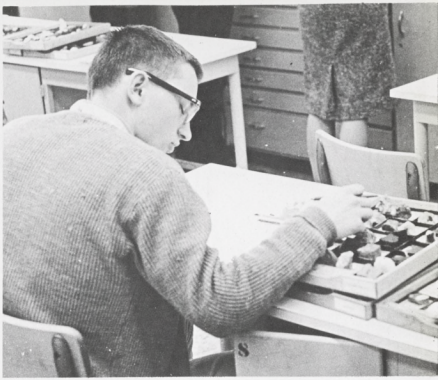

The care shown by Lorraine, our dental hygienist, is mirrored in her attitude of pleasant concentration.

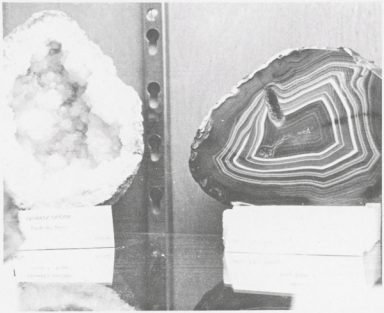

Students learn to identify many minerals in their geology labs. (This enables them to describe rock formations seen skiing and mountain-climbing.)

In a geology exhibit, we see splendid cross-sections of a quartz geode and an agate.

labs

Exactness is the key to all scientific endeavor. This balance weighs to 1/1000 of a gram.

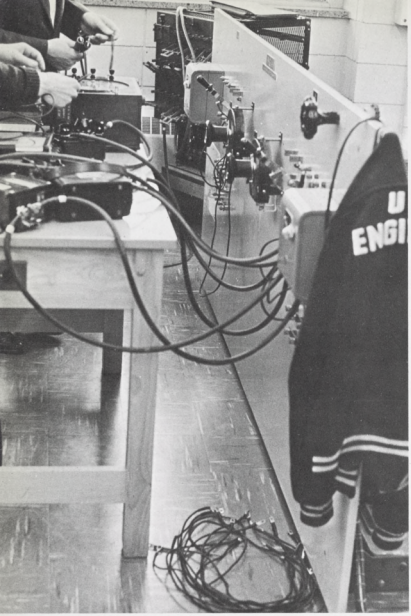

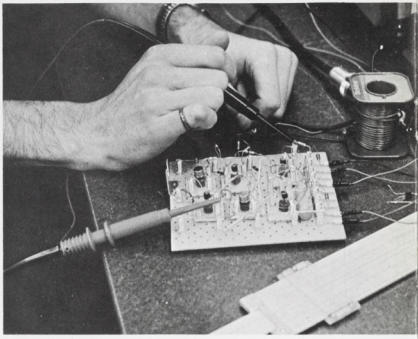

These students are about to learn about the role of carbon dioxide in photosynthesis.

The students' experience in labs serves to focus the material assimilated in lectures.

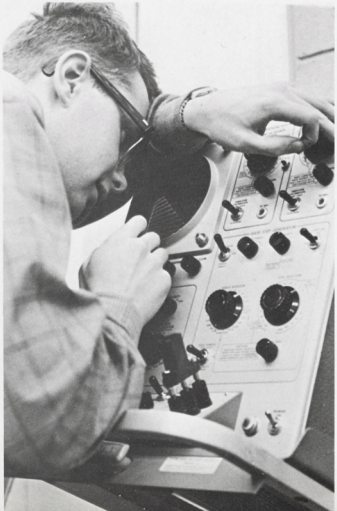

The Engineering Graduate performs the final test on the transistor prototypes.

engineering

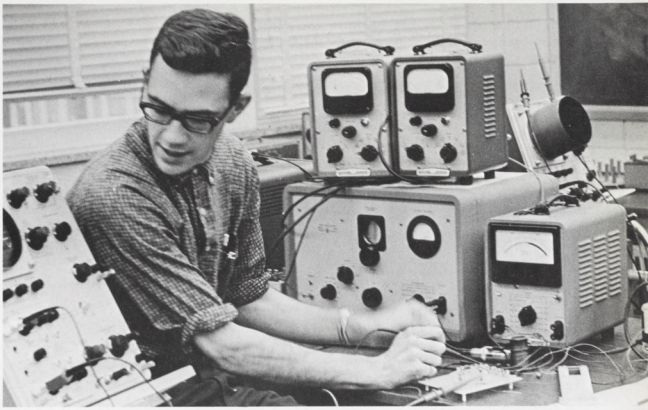

Generation and control of the high electrical power which turns today's machines is learned by the Engineering undergraduates.

The transistor curve tracer is used in the design of transistor circuits. Stacey studies the vital parameters.

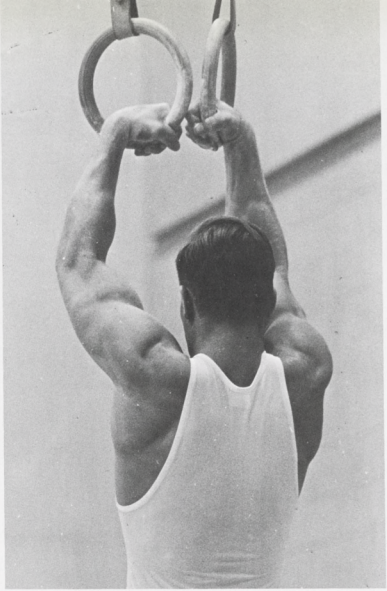

Brian checks the performance of the electronic design.

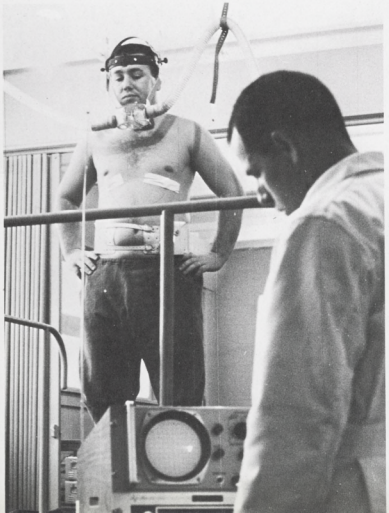

Basic principle of I = E/R is studied in the primary physics labs.

The department of Physical Education encourages mental and physical development, as did the Ancient Greeks.

physical education

Physical Education students perform experiments to study the physiological effects of certain exercises.

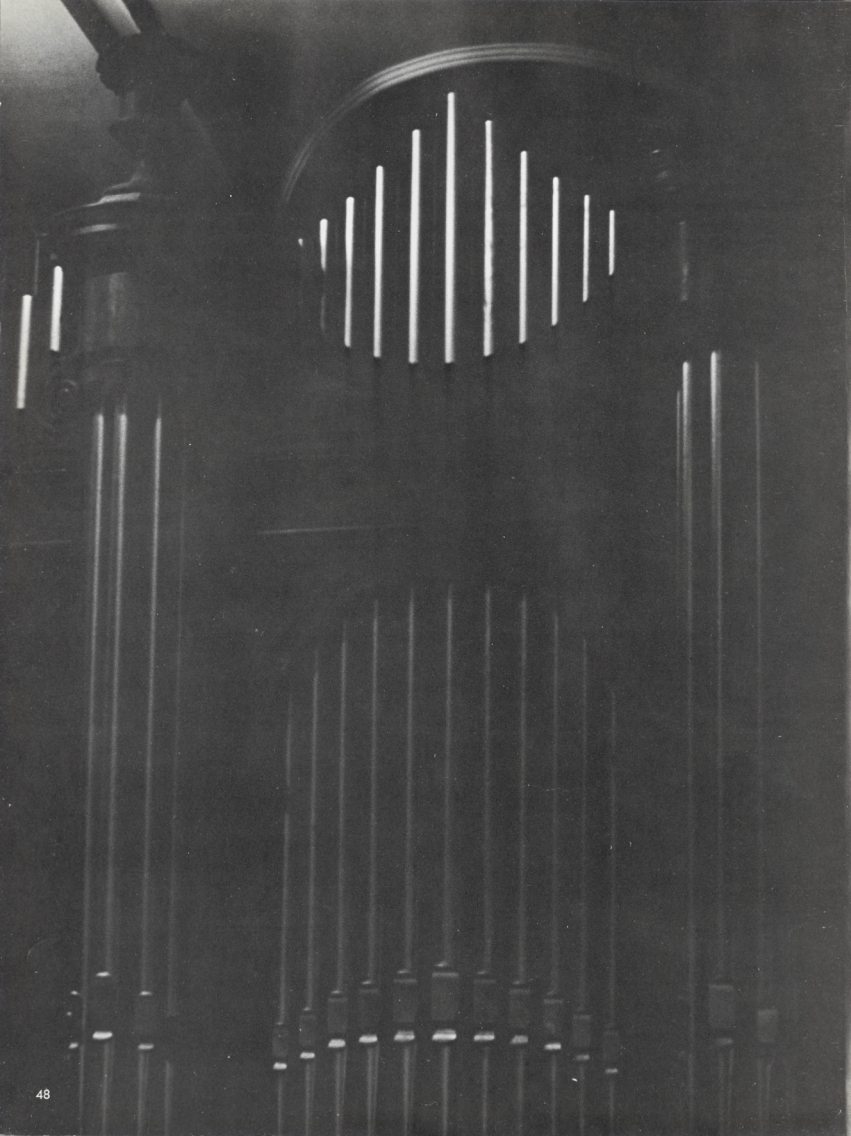

Grace and agility characterize the lunges and parries of a fencer.

EXHAUSTION — (noun) — that which follows the end of one's last class, or the completion of a yearbook section.

class history

marilou wells

Marilou Wells has made many contributions to the University of Alberta campus during her five years as a student. Some of her activities include: Engineers Queen, captain of the Cheerleaders, Promotions Committee, D.I.E. Committee, Wauneita Council, Macleod Club, and Vice-President of the Students Council. Miss Wells will be graduating with a B.Sc. Nursing degree in Teaching and Supervision.

We, the class of 1965, are at this very moment standing on the threshold of a new and different life. We tuck our hard earned degrees under our arms and venture off to seek our places in this vast society. But, Class of '65, before we go, let us turn to view the life we are leaving, to ponder the days we spent on the University of Alberta campus. These past three or four — or maybe six or seven years, hold thousands of memories for each of us. Thus, we reminisce.

The majority of us came to the U. of A. campus from the high schools of Alberta but soon we met students from all over the world. How well we remember our first impressions of this enormous place; the towering buildings, the rushing students, the feeling of aloneness. We donned our beanies and pins, and soon made many friends — fellow freshmen in the residences, and upper classmen most anxious to take advantage of our coffee tickets. The upper classmen . . . how they impressed us with their knowledge and jargon: WUS, WAA, SUB, NFCUS (now CUS).

For every student, Frosh Week provided a memorable round of dances, coffee parties, rallies, Frosh Court, and new faces. How exciting it was, and what a shock for some and a relief for others at the end of the week to realize that it was time to get down to work to prove to our families, friends and professors that we could handle the academic pressures we would be facing.

Many adjusted rapidly and easily to an academic life, but many pursued a life of pleasure — social activities, clubs, fraternities, sports. Each of us, however, had to learn to choose carefully and balance our lives between academic and extracurricular activities, and in doing this obtain satisfaction from both.

For many of us, coming to university was our first separation from home. We recall the letters we wrote telling of the wonders of University life. How we appreciated the moral and often financial support our parents gave us. How we loved the CARE packages full of good things to eat that our thoughtful Moms would send our way. Maturation and independence continued within us, yet we cherished the Thanksgivings and the Christmases we spent with our families.

We look back over the highlights of each year, and the activities that were annual successes. We recall the Wauneita Formals, our first year held on the rink in the Physical Education building; Bar None, the last big—and was it big—dance held each spring to end the year's extracurricular program. There were Blood Drives where we stood in line for hours, the very first time only to faint at the moment of the critical accepting ceremony — the finger prick. We think of Treasure Van, located differently each year so we literally had to follow the arrows of a treasure hunt to find it. It was in the Wauneita Lounge one year, Lister Hall the next, and the Armed Services building last year. We think of Color Night, Varsity Guest Weekend, and Students' Union elections.

With pride we regard the sportsmanship displayed by our campus athletes. The Golden Bowl of '63 made the Golden Bears Canada-wide University football champions. Hockey, judo, wrestling and other championships have been won as well. This was the intervarsity scene. Intramural sports, too, are increasing in popularity every year. The Gateway has brought CUP trophies to our campus and we have seen our McGoun debating team hailed the winners.

The new Students' Union Building began as a dream our first year on campus, and now, due to student initiative and effort, it is at the blueprint stage. Construction will soon begin.

We remember too, the other highlights: the kidnapping of Engineer Queens—later rescued from places like Banff and Saskatoon, the footprints up the side of the Chemistry building, the controversial "Wall" built by the Engineers to raise money for WUS, the hundreds of letters to the Gateway. We saw the First Annual Commerce Rodeo become a big success. French Canada Week was a highlight of our senior year. As a result of it, our university is known across Canada for its efforts in helping to solve the problems of communication and understanding between French Canada and English Canada.

Since our freshman days, the skyline of the campus has changed considerably. The two towering residences this year house over 1,000 students and another will soon be built. Lister Hall, the new Education building, Student Health Services, Cameron Library, and the Household Economics building have all been added to the physical layout of the University.

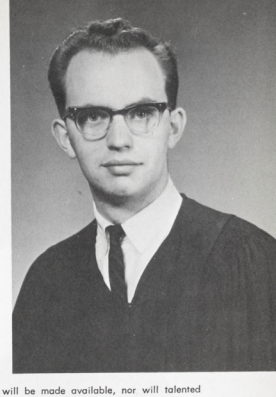

Able, energetic student leaders have guided student government. We are particularly proud of this year's Students' Union President whose efforts were able to "freeze the fees" for at least another year. Past Presidents we remember have become Rhodes Scholars and National CUS Presidents.

But for all the fun, and excitement that comes to mind as we reminisce, we have not forgotten why we came to university. We will not neglect to mention the education we sought and our motto "quaecumque vera" "Whatsoever things are true". We pay tribute to our professors, our Deans, our University President, Dr. Johns. These people have instructed us, guided us and become our friends. It is through their continuous efforts, as well as our own, that we, the Class of 1965 are receiving our degrees.

We cannot pretend to know anywhere near all there is to know about our subjects. We fully realize that although our university career may be terminating, because of the personality and character it has helped us develop, we will continuously expand our knowledge. In the coming years we will realize even more the tremendous debt we owe our alma mater.

As we depart from this home, the University of Alberta, each member of the Class of 1965 wishes every other member of the class, success and happiness in the life ahead.

john a. brook

On one occasion Aristotle was asked how much educated men were superior to those uneducated: "As much," said he, "as the living are to the dead."

—Diogenes Laertius, circa 200 A.D.

Our era is pledged to automating the fruits of the technological revolution; human values will change to follow suit. This revolution has brought great joys—freedom from hunger for a whole continent and the possibility of universal education are two. But because our great wealth allowed us to raise ideals higher than ever before, we suffer the more acutely when we fail to reach them, or when we achieve the husk and lose the kernel. My address will consider a problem basic to Canada's cultural and national immaturity: the problem of illiberality.

The ideal of a liberal education for every man has been a touchstone of 20th century Canadian life. Yet illiberality is a force so basic in our lives that it is exploited every election.

A liberal man appreciates the worth of every kind of human achievement. An illiberal one might live as though only his peculiar ends and values have worth, as though everyone is fundamentally like him or should be. The value of competitiveness, the right to an unexamined private conscience, the right to act 'freely' in his own interest without concern for higher interests of community, are for him unquestioned and unquestionable goods. He finds it difficult to grant credence to, say, the right of one group of men not the want to climb the company ladder, or of another to demand, with complete reason, special rights and considerations for his province (to use two quite different examples.) He believes, literally, that what is right for him is right for all men. He finds it difficult to accept that French-Canada might be right in asking for privileges which Western provinces would be wrong to demand.

Illiberality at best tolerates difference (that is to say, it holds an attitude of supreme indifference to difference, an attitude devoid of love for, or interest in human diversity.) But this best is very close to a great evil, bigotry. A man so unsympathetic to people different from himself can scarcely avoid unreasonable attitudes towards them. This indifference of each ethnic group towards every other is part of the western Canadian style of life.

A liberal education was meant to liberate us from the unawares assuming of the values of our fathers, so that we could appreciate, as opposed to assume, what is valuable in our tradition while taking up as our own what is valuable in others. The curriculum of almost any course in Canadian universities shows how completely this ideal has been lost. And further, the very relevance of any tradition to our daily life has been defused. I will return to this point later, by an indirect route.

The achievement on paper, the husk of achievement, rather than a concern for achieving the real thing, characterizes illiberality. A paper PhD becomes the achievement of education, as opposed to a concern for the content of it — the ability to learn from books, to think unguardedly and reflectively, or whatever. But this tendency reaches further into Canadian life than just into education.

Even as capital-E Education is valued in place of education as a process of becoming aware, so does our world lay great emphasis on Youth, while offering its young (with the exception of a university-trained elite) surprisingly little of permanent value. Even the world of the graduate shows this same concern with the shell rather than the content of situations.

In both government and private business, the confidence a person can instill in his fellows as to his ability and worth, often matters more than whether or not he does good work. And the range of interests and quality of language of professional and business people is often, it seems, lower than one might expect. The roots of inefficiency and multiplying bureaucracy lies in these more than it lies in the oft-attacked committee system.

The tendency to work for the husk and ignore the kernel is also observable in Canada's treatment of fine arts. A few dozen arts centres are being readied for 1967. Yet, if Alberta's example in her programming of her auditoria is an indication, not nearly the resources needed to fill these centres will be made available, nor will talented Canadians be trained or hired.

The problems Canadians have interrelating our two cultures is similar to the tendency noted to achieve shells as surrogates for real changes. The need to communicate with French-Canadians has been pointed out too clearly and too well to need reiterating. What has not been noted is that dialogue cannot begin if the following (basically illiberal) approach to the problem is taken. Let us say we recognize the need for dialogue. So we look for French-Canadians or French-Canadian aspirations with which to commune. In fact, what we are searching for, however, is an English-Canadian's idea of what a French-Canadian is, an easy alternative to the mental effort of learning to appreciate the real differences in the French style of life. And when French-Canadians take the same approach (as they seem often to do), we do truly find ourselves in two solitudes. The spectacle of a federal government unable to initiate visionary innovations and of provincial governments unsympathetic to many of the very attitudes and assumptions underlying any appreciative approach to French-Canada (or any other different cultural group, such as the Hutterites), does nothing to make the dilemma more resolvable.

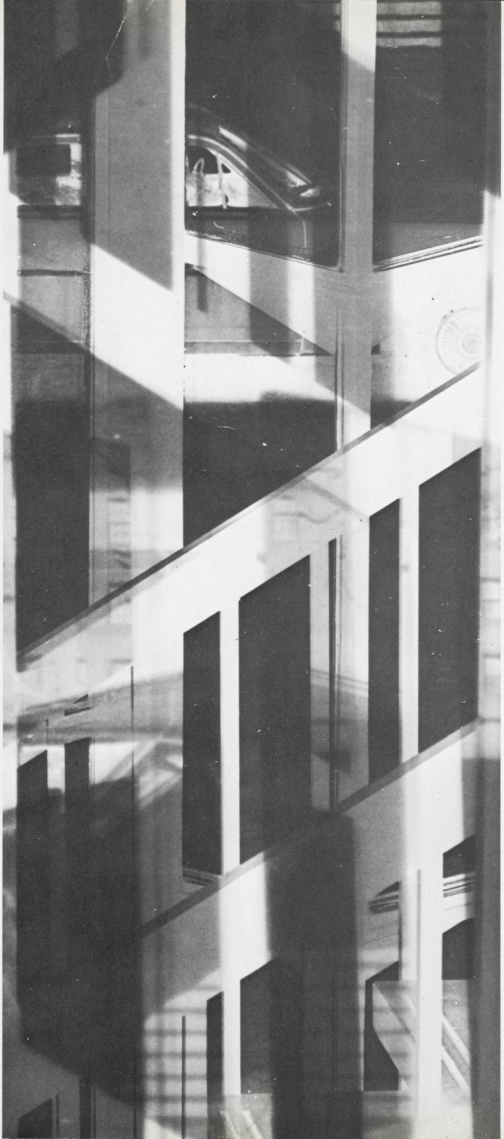

Finding an alternative to illiberality is not easy; neither is it much a concern of Canadian life at present.

Our lives are constantly being changed (it is estimated, for example, that within a decade every man will spend two days a week retraining). Traditions based on father-to-son succession and other stable, unchanging patterns of life cease to hold the same value, consequently. But the breakdown of systems of tradition (and systems of value) occasions a kind illiberality-by-default. Illiberal people of the past practised their illiberality with great vigor. They fought very hard for the right to be positively bigoted, positively narrow-minded. The new illiberality has lost this old vigor. Rather, it is illiberal only because it has no positive liberal qualities about it. These people are indifferent — everything passes by, without special value. They are the mild Epicureans who cause social scientists to cry of alienation, of the lonely crowd and so on. I suspect that this illiberality-as-indifference is a more horrendous kind than the old narrow-mindedness.

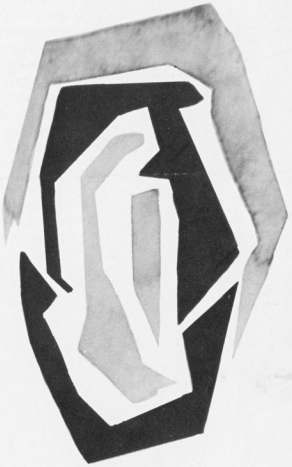

None of the above discussion much concerns things that affect daily life. As we do not realize how depressing living in an ugly building has been until we get out of it, so we are not apt to realize the peculiar faults and joys of western Canadian life, with its Puritanism and other illiberalities until, in some way or other, we get outside it. Illiberality is not the alpha and omega of Canada's problems any more than it is the only target of education. But it does influence problems to which every graduate will be addressing himself, whether he stays in academic or enters business or a profession.

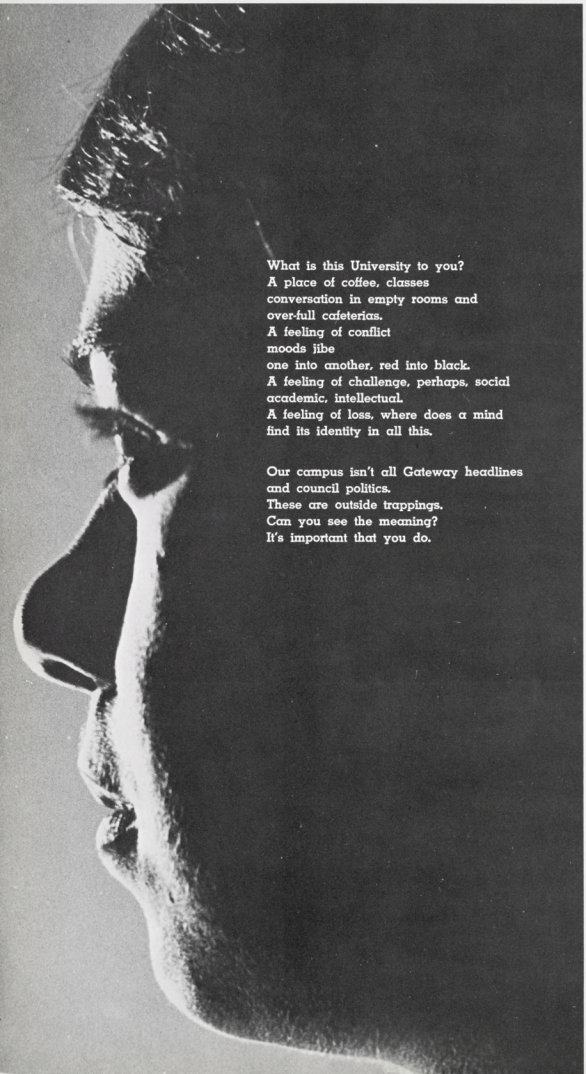

The very fact that Canada is a place of strange half-achievements, thoroughly muddled as to national ends, makes it an exciting place for our generation. Intellectuals, trained minds, leaders of any kind, are in demand as never before. Opportunities exist in super-abundance for people concerned to work out a viable Canadian nation. The role we play in guiding the change to be made in our language, our attitudes, our nation, our material lives, will be important.

moods

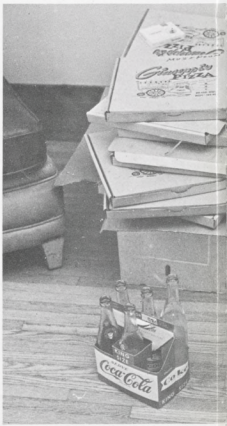

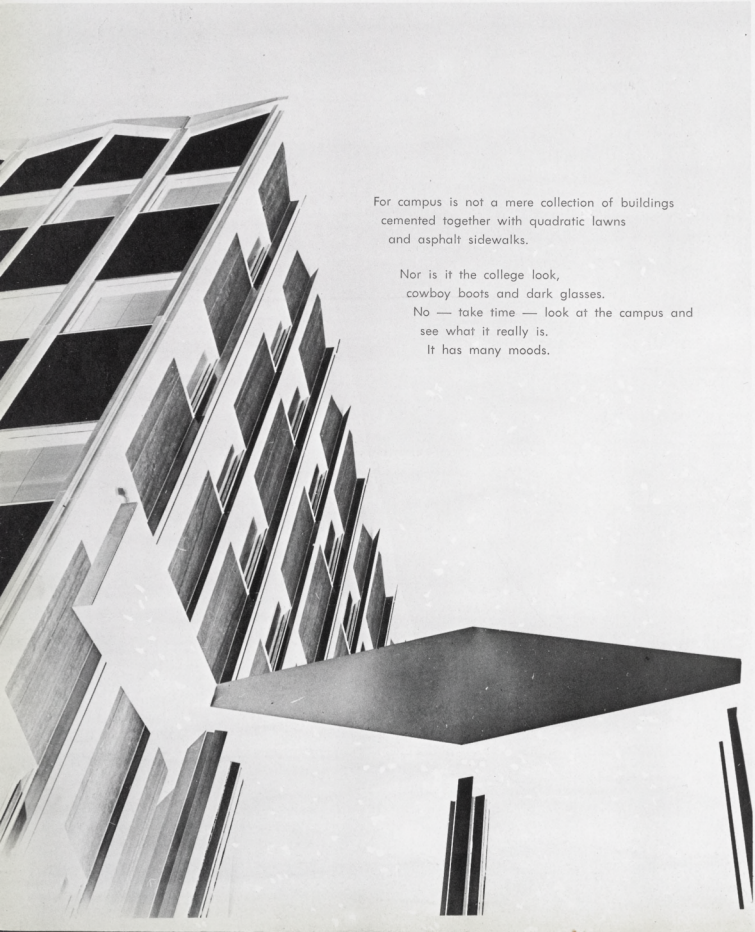

What is this University to you?
A place of coffee, classes conversation in empty rooms and over-full cafeterias.
A feeling of conflict moods jibe
one into another, red into black.
A feeling of challenge, perhaps, social academic, intellectual.
A feeling of loss, where does a mind find its identity in all this.

Our campus isn't all Gateway headlines and council politics.
These are outside trappings.
Can you see the meaning?
It's important that you do.

The Gateway
Gateway
French Week

For campus is not a mere collection of buildings cemented together with quadratic lawns and asphalt sidewalks.

Nor is it the college look,
cowboy boots and dark glasses.
No — take time — look at the campus and see what it really is.
It has many moods.

Look into the cafeterias crowded, noisy, yet enjoying.
Or into Tuck,
Coffee, cigarettes, conversation and never enough seats.
Wide glances on the door to see who's coming in with who.
Uh huh!

Join the constricting crowds—another mood
Mostly all you feel is a numb seat and squashed elbows.
And line-ups, line-ups.
Registration, handbooks, student pictures, directories classcards, yearbooks and exams.

All you see are many nothings conglomerated into a large nothing Everybody is headed to something though and those feelings add up to a sum of ideas.

There is a mood of campus away from the buildings and people.
Criticism good and bad,
seminars and spontaneous conversation.
Important growths and slashes of ideas meet with friends and informal profs for a taste of the good life.

Then feel the slicing bitterness of a winter wind
Damp crowds and shivering complaints of snow and cold
This dammit is another mood.

Look into Dinwoodie lounge mostly relaxed chairs and sleeping students.
Quiet talking and a few moments to relax before time carries you on to another class.

Vacant coats down quiet halls devoid of shape until a bureaucratic buzzer sends the now learned population into confused migration.

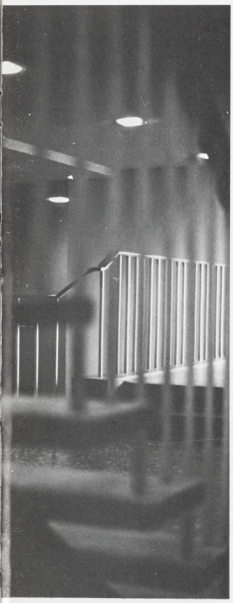

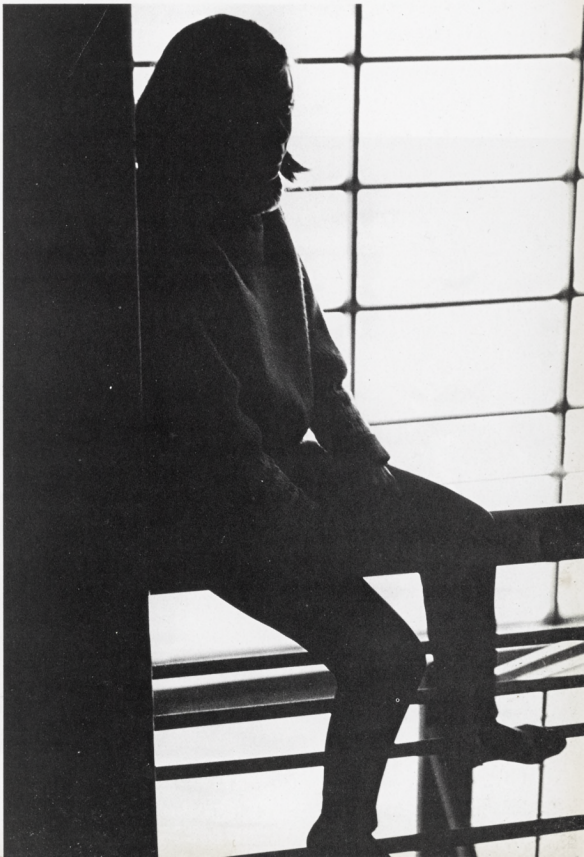

This is the campus mood.
Altogether the feelings are the same clustered space and common ridicule.

Pain in being alone?
Yet individuals take on purpose in separateness.
Separately is where the meaning can come in.
Separately is where moods come easily and they are there.

To show their concern for other less fortunate students U of A students earned money for the World University Service in several ways.

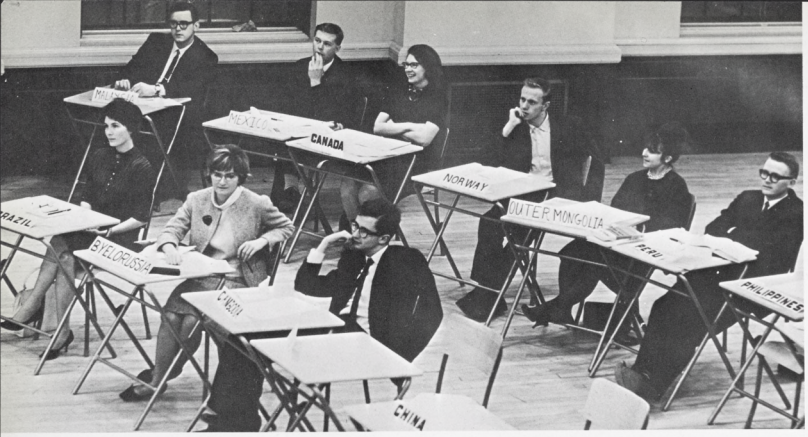

A fund drive in November asked everyone to "Share". Then, while nurses rubbed backs, engineers robbed wallets! Treasure Van involved a thousand ambitious people in a week of organization, packing, setting up and in serving those who came to see and buy handicrafts brought from all over the world.

Total proceeds collected for us to date amount to 16,000 dollars.

u.n. general assembly

"Should Red China be admitted to the United Nations?" was the topic discussed at the U.N. club's Model Assembly held in Convocation Hall.

President of the assembly was Lorne Yacuk, while Dr. K. Gordon was the Secretary General.

rodeo '64

More than 5,000 persons saw University of Alberta students capture three of five Rodeo '64 championships in the Varsity Arena. The event, believed the first of its kind in Canada, was sponsored by the Commerce Undergraduate Society. Contestants came from other Canadian and American universities to compete for the grand prize — a three hundred dollar hand tooled saddle. Events included brahma bull riding, bareback contests, calf-roping, barrel racing and a hilarious greased pig race.

As a result of the Rodeo, a Rodeo Club has been formed on campus for the promotion of similar events.

The thirteenth annual "Songfest" sponsored by the Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Society saw four women's and ten men's fraternities competing for singing supremacy.

Weeks of rehearsal earned trophies for Kappa Alpha Theta, directed by Darlene King and Phi Delta Theta, directed by Pat Peacock.

On the same night, "Santa Claus" in the person of Dr. Walter Johns, brought scholarship awards to Delta Kappa Epsilon and Alpha Gamma Delta. These are given to the fraternities who have the highest overall averages.

Proceeds from "Songfest" go towards a scholarship to aid a first year student. This year's recipient was Miss Marilyn Duncan.

med show

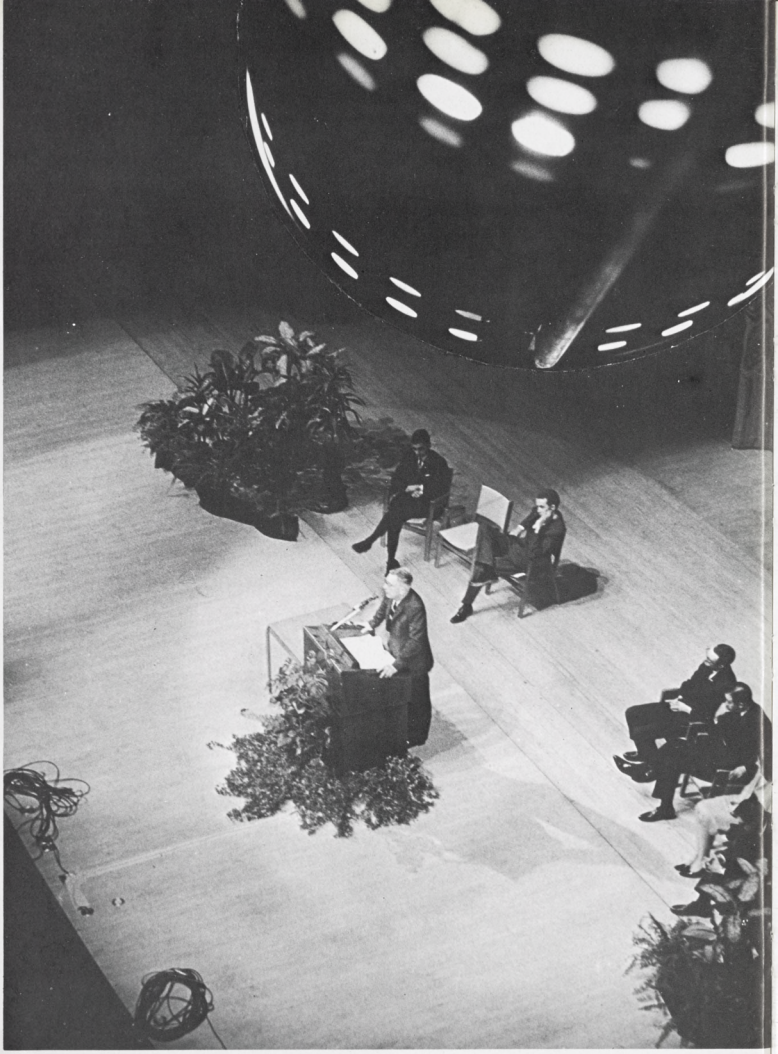

The sixteenth annual Med Show played again this year to a full house at both performances at the Studio Theatre. Under the direction of Bob Lefevre, the show consisted of four one act skits which were "acted" and written by the students of the Faculty of Medicine. The skits included "The Tale of Little Red Robbin Hood", "Coldfinger", "A Wet Midsummer Night's Dream" and "Chancres Away (or the South Atlantic Squadron). The highlights of the performances were the return of Pete "Fountain" Nash in his famous role as the Rain God; and "Tim".

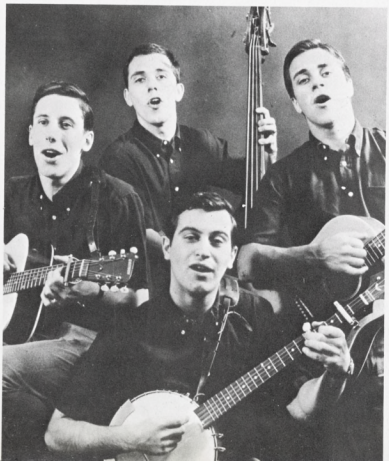

la semaine canadienne francaise

"Understanding Through Communication" was the theme of French Canada Week January 25-30. Speakers, seminars, displays, and six students from Quebec highlighted the venture which drew praise from all over Canada.

The activities were organized by a committee co-chaired by Jim Dube and Michelle Lefebvre.

The week of learning about the Quebecers was concluded with entertainment by Les Quatres Vingts, a group of French Canadian folksinging students.

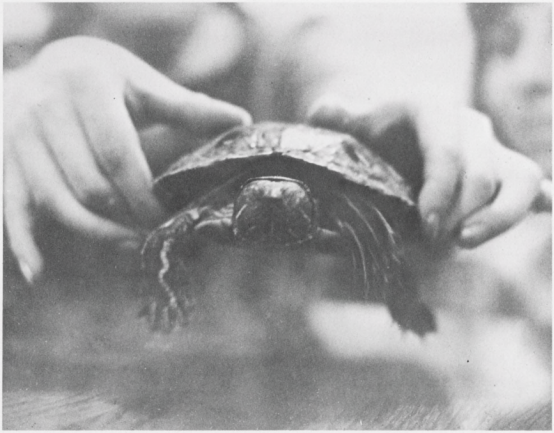

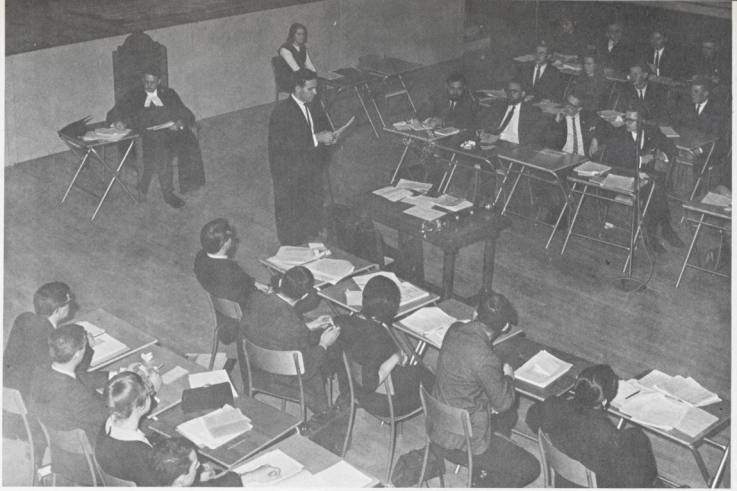

turtle derby

Phi Delta Theta fraternity instituted a new twist in campus spectator sports — a Turtle Derby. Ten Maryland racing turtles were specially imported and placed in the care of their new owners, women of the Fraternities, nursing faculties, residences and physical education.

All during the preceding week time trials were conducted and the turtles were rated for speed.

Finally, on Friday, January 29 three thousand people filled the main gym to see the phys. ed. girls' turtle win the trophy for the Derby whose proceeds went to the Winnifred Stewart School for Retarded Children.

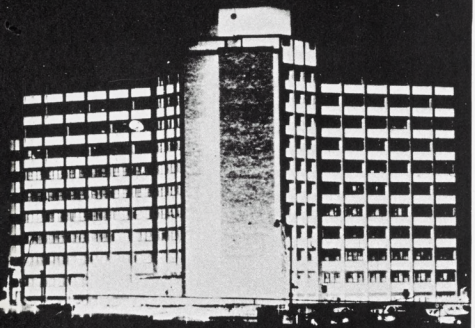

model parliament

A resolution calling for liberalization of divorce laws in Canada was passed by this year's Model Parliament. Also passed at the closing session was a resolution asking for recognition of Red China.

The minority Liberal Government under Prime Minister Stan Church held office for three days until it was dissolved by Governor-General Basil Dean. Speaker for the session was Prof. W. F. Dawson of the Political Science department.

tri-service ball

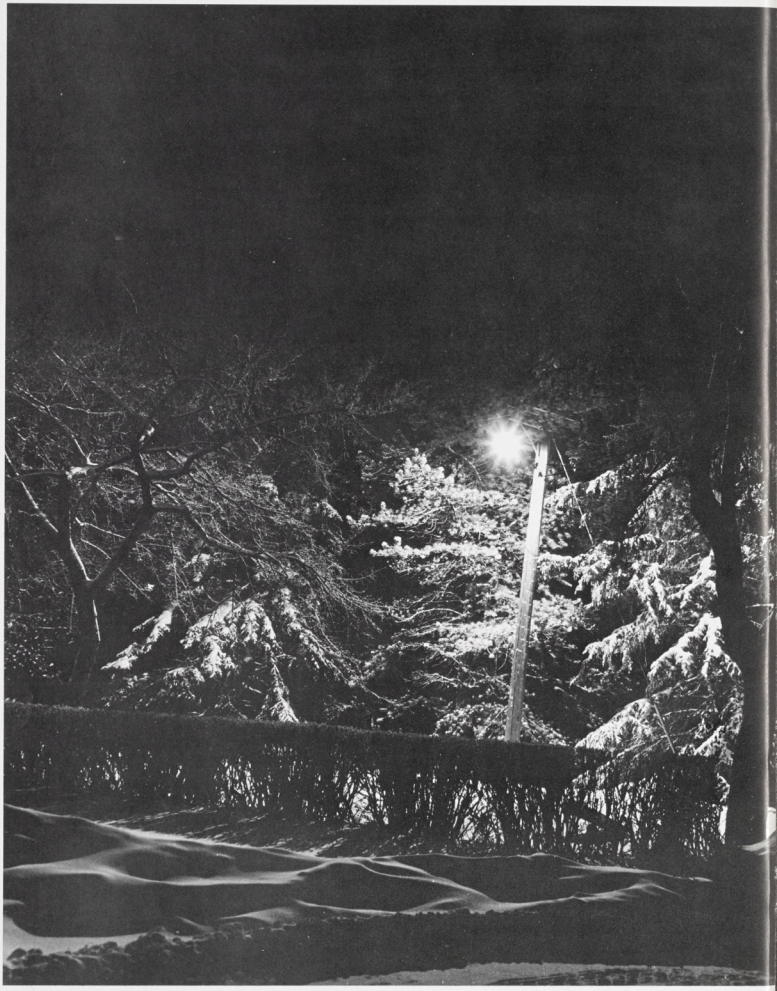

An Oriental theme, complete with Chinese food set the stage for the annual Tri-Service Ball, held this year in the Leon Forte Building at Hamilton Gault Barracks at Nameo.

The Lord Strathcona Horse Band provided music for the affair, organized by the Tri-Service Mess Committee, composed of Officer Cadets from each of the services.

Patron for the dance was the Chancellor of the University, Mr. F. P. Galbraith.

Wauneita Initiation Ceremony

wauneita society

Maureen McHale, Barbara Krause, Loraine Jeandron.

The Wauneita Society, organized in 1909-1910, includes every woman student on Campus as a member. The goal of the society, embodied in the Cree word, Wauneita, meaning "kind-hearted", is to create friendship and unity among the Co-eds on Campus. Greetings of, "How Kolal Welcome to Wauneita!" invited every Freshette into the tribe Wauneita at the Initiation Ceremony during Freshman Introduction Week.

To help all first year women through the bewildering facets of university life, a "Big Sister" was given to each Freshette. Two main Wauneita events were attended together by "Sisters": the Big and Little Sister Party, during which Dean J. Grant Sparling, Mrs. W. H. Johns, and Dr. Elizabeth Empey outlined the role of women students on the campus; and the White Gift Party where Big and Little Sister together contributed to make the lives of others happier at Christmas.

Muenuguan Esqui, meaning Beautiful Maiden, was the theme of the Wauneita Formal Dance. This social event, one of the largest and most beautiful of the university year, was held on November 2 in the Jubilee Auditorium and attended by over one thousand women students and their escorts.

The Wauneita Society is perhaps the busiest auxiliary organization of the Students' Union. Serving at functions during Freshman Introduction Week, Blitz Drive, W.U.S. Varsity Guest Weekend, and Founders' Day, the Wauneita Society affords every woman student the opportunity to actively participate in a wide variety of student activities.

gold key

The Golden Key Society is an extra-curricular honor society of senior students. Each year, the Awards Committee selects several new members from the student body on the basis of outstanding contribution to student life. Standard functions of the society include welcoming new students and other newcomers, such as visiting dignitaries, to the campus; organizing and directing Freshman Introduction Week and Varsity Guest Weekend, and promoting foreign student orientation.

The Golden Key Society is also an "organization to help other organizations." All other groups on campus may ask for and receive advice and direction in relation to their activities.

This year, the society initiated plans for a "regular student aid program", whereby individual students could be given assistance on a personal basis. At last report, the group was also taking steps to set up the equivalent of the Vant lectures for male students.

C.U.S.

The Canadian Union of Students, founded as NFCUS, the National Federation of Canadian University Students in 1926, has as its express aim the provision of a unified voice for all Canadian students. CUS, an organization embracing over 120,000 students across Canada, has become an effective lobby to speak, pressure and dream on behalf of the Canadian student community.

The members of the Local Committee of CUS, under the Chairmanship of David Estrin, Arts 3, are in effect representatives of the entire population at this university. It is the Committee's concern to acquaint as many students as possible, not only with the services which CUS offers, but also with the purposes and philosophies of the Union.

Perhaps the most important activity of this CUS Committee this year is the sponsoring of French Canada Week, from January 25 - 30. Brought in for this event, which was held to create a greater awareness of French Canada on campus and to aid communication between the two Canadian cultural groups, was Federal Minister of Forestry, Maurice Sauve, Quebec Minister of Forestry Pierre Laporte, Quebec Education Minister Gerin-Lajoie, Mde. Chaput-Rolland, French-Canadian author and speaker; and Jean Bazin, national president of the Canadian Union of Students.

Francis M. Saville, Dave Estrin, Darlene Redenbach, Sybil Bleiler.

W.U.S.

This is an international organization of students and professors with branches in fifty countries. Its purpose is to provide assistance to member countries attempting to improve their educational facilities.

The International headquarters is situated in Geneva. Canada has a National headquarters in Toronto that coordinates the aims of the local committees with the aims and obligations on the International level.

WUS of Canada sponsors an International Seminar for Canadian Students. Last year U. of A. was represented by Miss Bev Gietz at the Seminar which was held in Algeria. In 1965 the Seminar is in Chile. Another project of WUSC is Treasure Van. This visits our campus each year with a carload of foreign trinkets. Our campus has been able to boast record-breaking sales.

The Share campaign held in Nov. raises funds for the International Program of action as established by the member nations. Projects receiving financial aid through this program must supply their own labor force. We help them to help themselves.

university mixed chorus

The University of Alberta Mixed Chorus celebrates its twenty-first birthday in 1964-65 by holding its formal concerts in the Jubilee Auditorium. However, Chorus has been of age for some time now. The seventy members of the original group have been expanded by Professor R. S. Eaton into a one hundred and fifty member organization which has given very capable, highly diversified, and extremely enjoyable concerts for many years.

Members rehearse every Wednesday evening and Saturday afternoon from the beginning of October to the end of January. Once in shape, Chorus gives a series of three formal concerts at the beginning of February, participates in an exchange series of concerts with the University of Saskatchewan's Greystone Singers, and sings in a few Alberta communities during a short winter tour. After a vocal rest and final exams, Chorus undertakes what is probably its most gruelling and most rewarding venture: a two-week spring tour which rotates among towns in southern, central and northern Alberta in three year cycles. Formal concerts are presented by an impressive array of full length gowns and black suits, while informal concerts are given by an homogenous group of blue blazers and grey skirts or slacks.

Other singing activities include carolling in the University Hospital each year just before Christmas, cutting a record at one of their concerts, and singing for the C.B.C. Members also have been known to have "fun" during their annual alumnus party, summer steak roast, and other various activities.

Only a chorister can tell you about the after-chorus times in Tuck, the bus tours, the bustle and billets of towns, and the friendships formed that make alumni say, "University was great, but I miss Chorus most of all".

The University of Alberta Male Chorus enjoys its fourth year of singing in 1965. This lively organization, under the superb conduction of Garth Worthington, provides an opportunity for a bunch of music-loving characters to congregate and allow their voices to be set free.

During the term, Male Chorus sings at hospitals, schools, nightly concerts, and the main concert at Convocation Hall in February. The parties they have are notoriously successful and there are lots of them. In the spring, they become mobile and bring to Albertans or other Canadians their happy sounds.

classics' club

The aim of the Classics Club of the University of Alberta is to stimulate interest in the Classics through the presentation of papers, showing of slides and free discussion. The program is carried out through monthly meetings held at the homes of student and faculty members.

The Classics Club is a member of Eta Sigma Phi Honorary Classical Fraternity, an international organization which promotes closer relationship among students of the Classics by the publishment of a paper, sponsoring of conventions and contest, and a scholarship plan for study abroad at the American School of Classical Studies in Athens or the American Academy in Rome.

The local activities of the Classics Club include an annual display of Varsity Guest Weekend. We also award medals to outstanding Latin students in Edmonton high schools in an effort to encourage the study of Latin in high school.

dance club

The U. of A. Dance Club is one of the largest clubs on campus. Last year the membership was doubled and this year we have over four hundred members. The club provides its members with ten weeks of instruction which includes both Latin and North American dances. There are seven classes during the week under the guidance of our regular professional instructors.

During the year, dance parties are put on by the club with live music to put the lessons to practice. The U. of A. Dance Club is chiefly interested in teaching students how to dance and obtain maximum enjoyment to social activities.

chess club

Twice weekly, members of the Chess Club meet to participate in a pyramid tournament that lasts the University semester.

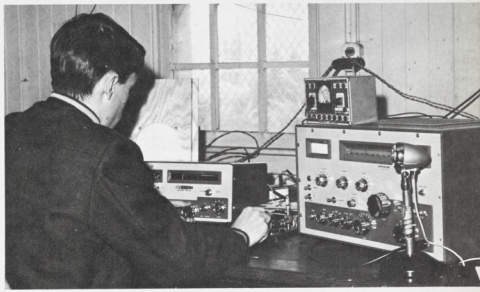

The two flights complete in a round robin tournament in January.

ballet club

The Ballet Club promotes the appreciation of, and the participation in ballet as a fine art. Free lessons are sponsored weekly by the Students' Union, instructed by a teacher from the Royal Academy of Dancing, London, England. These lessons are provided for all students interested, regardless of previous training. The Club also sponsors Ballet films and demonstrations of other types of dancing. During Varsity Guest Weekend, a display of the Year's work is presented. It is hoped that in its three years of existence, the club has helped increase awareness of the fine arts on campus.

u of a amateur radio club

The University of Alberta Amateur Radio Club is a small but active club on campus which has as its goal the fostering of amateur radio communications. The club helps keep U. of A. in contact with other universities via the amateur radio waves. The new Apache transmitter with its 200 watts is capable of world-wide communications.

4-h alumni association

The club assists existing clubs and club members by:

(a) Taking visiting clubs on tours of the University of Alberta.

(b) Speaking at club meetings when called on to do so.

The 4H alumni association works to develop closer relationship among alumni members through various activities on campus.

Byron Lauber, Victor Janzen, Dorothy Deckert.

The Association of Mennonite University Students (AMUS) is an inter-Mennonite club designed to aid the Mennonite student in overcoming difficulties that he may experience on campus.

Speakers are invited for lectures and the students are encouraged to discuss and find solutions to any religious problems they may encounter.

Other activities include music, debating, speaking and social activities.

The L.D.S. Club provides spiritual and social balance for the academic activities of the L.D.S. students while at the U. of A. The club's social, athletic, and spiritual activities provide this balance for all members. Socially, they participate in all major campus events as well as intramurals and club functions. Monthly firesides are enjoyed by all.

lutheran students' movement

Stan Gooch, Carol Bergquist, Sharon Bue, Herber Andersen.

The Lutheran Student Movement in Canada seeks to provide a medium through which Lutheran students may express their faith and enrich their spiritual lives while they are attending university. Regular activities of the L.S.M. include "Student Slants" and vespers each week night, guest speakers each Sunday evening, discussions, retreats and socials. The year closes with an annual spring banquet.

Karen Doyle, Pat Freeman, Brian Brownlee, Caroline Baker.

newman club

Newman Club is dedicated to the promotion of social, intellectual and spiritual activities conducive to the "true enlargement of the mind" advocated by its patron John Henry Cardinal Newman. Among Newman Club's many social activities are Sunday evening socials, skating parties, sleigh rides, bowling, an annual Frosh mixer and Christmas Party. The club greeted the New Year by holding a formal in mid-January, which will continue as an annual function. Retreats, daily Mass, Communion Breakfast, panel discussions and guest speakers are all a part of the club's more serious aspect. Under the sponsorship of Newman Club a "Co-op" providing lounge and luncheon facilities for the students has been started, with headquarters in the Catholic Centre in St. Joseph's College. All the activities of Newman Club are directed towards the achievement of the club motto "Cor ad cor soquitur" (Heart to heart speaking).

Dave Blacklock, Linda Bridgewater, Gordon Burch.

st. basil's

The purpose of Obnova is to promote spiritual, cultural, and social activities on an intellectual level among the Ukrainian Catholic students. This is done by various means: meetings, panel discussions, fellowships, study groups, and Communion breakfasts. Obnova's large semi-formal banquet and dance every year highlights the University season for the club.

varsity christian fellowship

International students share their culture at Banff, Christmas.

The Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship chapter is part of a worldwide interdenominational fellowship whose aim is to help students investigate the Christian faith and to find its implications for and application to their lives.

The V.C.F. chapter on this campus has a membership of about 200 students. Some features of this year's program were a Thanksgiving Camp at Crimson Lake; a leadership smorgasbord to which all campus leaders were invited; an International Carol Sing and Banff International Christmas.

The highlight of the year was the 7th Inter-Varsity Missionary Convention held at the University of Illinois, Dec. 27 - 31, 1964. Featured at the convention, which was attended by 6,000 students, were speakers of note such as Dr. Billy Graham and John Stott.

The Student Christian Movement is a movement rather than a club. It functions within a Christian framework but is open to all students, Christian and non-Christian. Since the movement has no formal membership, all students are free to come and go at all times. The S.C.M. has two distinctive functions. One is to encourage Christians and non-Christians to confront one another freely in discussion of religion, morals, university, and social and political problems. The other is to promote greater co-operation and understanding amongst the various denominational groups.

agriculture club

The Agriculture Club, consisting of 260 members, is an organization of students enrolled in the faculty or having an interest in agriculture. The club's aim is to promote good fellowship and interest among the students as well as encouraging good student-faculty relations. Each year the club boasts a near 100% enrolment of the agriculture students.

The club sponsors various activities including "Frosh Introduction Night" and "Feeder's Night" which features a Banquet and public speaking contest. Duting Nov. the "Ag-House Ec" Roundup" is held which includes a sleighride, supper and dance. Last, but not least comes "Bar None", the biggest dance on campus. These three days of flapjacks, chuckwagons, cowboys and high spirits are made possible through the complete participation of every member, and their ability to create the lively atmosphere which prevails during "Bar None" weekend.

The Ags are also very active in campus sports, blood drives, U.C.F. Blitz, Share and Treasure Van. This year the Ag Club is playing a primary role in "Varsity Guest Weekend" which originated out of an Agricultural "Visitor's Day".

The Agricultural Economics Club was organized for the purpose of stimulating and encouraging the interchange of ideas among students having an interest in Agricultural Economics and associated professions.

The club holds membership in the Student Section of the American Farm Economic Association and through this affiliation sends a debating team and a public speaking contestant to the annual competition-convention of the Student Sections usually held in the U.S.

During this, the Club's third year monthly program-meetings were held featuring guest speakers, panel discussions and debates. The annual banquet and guest speaker curtailed the year's activities.

The spirit and excitement of Rodeo '64, the first Canadian intercollegiate Rodeo, as well as the Monte Carlo Dance were sponsored by the active Commerce Club. Their aim is to co-ordinate and promote various social, cultural, academic and athletic activities within the faculty of Commerce. The members endeavor to promote closer contact with the business community and their faculty.

ultimately

You have now completed one-half the product of a year's envolvement by 40 students.
The result of one a.m. layouts days of absent classes, excelsiors of sugared coffee and enough frustration to fill the office twice over.

Deadlines missed and met in the maddest flurries photographers lost and unknown pictures found.
Frequent rantings by such as myself.
Last minute pictures and photographers shouted at by harried editors until their minds are black, white and half-toned.

The result is an extension of the attempt to relate a concept of a yearbook to a particular university year.
Fewer smiling faces, more pictures, more feeling
In short, something more meaningful.

Creating such a book is a perplexing ((helluva) job.
I can only thank anyone to whom deadlines meant no dates, lost lectures, or missed assignments and especially everyone who had a part in its development and creation.

The editors and staff persisted because of a conviction that a yearbook can be worth having.
Idealistic, yes, very much so.
In an attempt to interest 8,000 students.
In whom there are 8,000 opinions as to what constitutes a yearbook one tends to be idealistic.
Like it, hate it, or store it on

frank morris retires

after six years as assistant coach, frank morris has resigned. mr. morris has been a tower of strength to the golden bears with his knowledge and experience of football. the ex-eskimo always tackled his duties with vigor and confidence and thereby instilled the same qualities in the players. he joined the golden bears in 1959 when they joined wciaa. From a disappointing team the first few years the golden bears now have a collegiate football dynasty unequalled in canada; frank morris has been one of the leading lights in guiding the bears to this peak at which they are now. his future in football is still a mystery but one thing is sure, whatever frank morris attempts will always be done with the utmost perfection and devotion. thank you for your contribution to the lives of many young people, and best of luck in your future endeavors.

who on this page demonstrates the deadly combination of poise and power that allowed him to control the league's backboards in 1964-65. Strong both offensively and defensively, nestor set a league rebounding record and scored more than his share of points in leading the bears to conference honours.

led the bears to the w.r. rugby trophy. In a season marked with success barry mitchelson led the team in scoring, but was hard pressed by the likes of darwin semotiuk, john hennessey, and nestor korchinsky. But above all it was a team victory, a victory made all the more exciting by the evenly matched league from which the bears emerged triumphant.

a dedicated coach . . .

Jim Munro has found success early in his short coaching career. Five years an assistant before assuming control two years ago, he has taken little time to mold a championship team. Now he leads it into the national finals to be played march 12, 13 in halifax.

Winners of the w.c.i.a.a. championship last year for the tenth time, the bears continued to play fine hockey. However, they couldn't come up with the right moves this year to take the top honours in the five team league. The bears carved their mark elsewhere, however, placing ed wahl and brian harper first and second in the individual scoring race. Drake's boys provided a lot of thrills for the home fans especially near the end of the season as the games went down to the wire with alberta grabbing the goodies in the end.

coach Clare Drake rarely exhibited any emotion when his team took to the ice.
